

The Local Government Ombudsman's
Annual Letter
Mansfield District Council for the year ended
31 March 2008

The Local Government Ombudsman (LGO) provides a free, independent and impartial service. We consider complaints about the administrative actions of councils and some other authorities. We cannot question what a council has done simply because someone does not agree with it. If we find something has gone wrong, such as poor service, service failure, delay or bad advice, and that a person has suffered as a result, the Ombudsmen aim to get it put right by recommending a suitable remedy. The LGO also uses the findings from investigation work to help authorities provide better public services through initiatives such as special reports, training and annual letters.

Annual Letter 2007/08 - Introduction

This annual letter provides a summary of the complaints received about Mansfield District Council and comments on the authority's performance and complaint-handling arrangements.

I hope that the letter will assist you in improving services by providing a useful perspective on how some people who are dissatisfied experience or perceive your services.

Two attachments form an integral part of this letter: statistical data covering a three year period and a note to help the interpretation of the statistics.

Complaints received

2007/08 saw a significant drop in the number of complaints made to me about your Council. In total I received ten complaints; fewer than half of the 25 received the year before. This drop seems to be largely accounted for by a drop in planning and building control complaints which fell from 12 to two.

As you will see from the attached statistical information, the complaints covered a range of service areas. The numbers involved are small and no meaningful conclusions can be drawn from them.

Liaison with the Local Government Ombudsman

The Council's liaison officer provides timely responses to our initial enquiries. As the statistical information shows, the average response time has fallen from 26.5 days in 2006/07 to 18 in 2007/08. These times are very good and well within the requested 28 days. I thank the Council for its continued cooperation in this as it helps my staff reduce the time to respond to complaints, ensuring a better service for complainants.

Decisions on complaints

We will often discontinue enquires into a complaint when a council takes or agrees to take action that we consider to be a satisfactory response – we call these local settlements. In 2007/08 the Local Government Ombudsmen determined 27% of complaints by local settlement (excluding 'premature' complaints - where councils have not had a proper chance to deal with them - and those outside our jurisdiction). If an investigation is completed I issue a public report.

As you can see from the attached statistical information, I did not issue any reports about the Council nor did I determine any complaints as local settlements.

In total, I made 15 decisions on complaints about the Council. This number differs slightly from the number of complaints received as it includes complaints received in the previous year. Of the fifteen decisions, five were premature, four were outside my jurisdiction and of the six other decisions all resulted in a finding of no maladministration. I did not find evidence of maladministration in any of the complaints I investigated in 2007/08.

Your Council's complaints procedure and handling of complaints

None of my investigations have raised any issues about the Council's complaint handling.

Training in complaint handling

Part of our role is to provide advice and guidance about good administrative practice. We offer training courses for all levels of local authority staff in complaints handling and investigation. A detailed evaluation of the training provided to councils over the past three years shows very high levels of satisfaction. We will customise courses to meet your Council's specific requirements and provide courses for groups of staff from different smaller authorities. Participants benefit from the complaint-handling knowledge and expertise of the experienced investigators who present the courses.

I enclose information on the full range of courses available together with contact details for enquiries and any further bookings.

LGO developments

We launched the LGO Advice Team in April, providing a first contact service for all enquirers and new complainants. Demand for the service has been high. Our team of advisers, trained to provide comprehensive information and advice, has dealt with many thousands of calls since the service started.

The team handles complaints submitted by telephone, email or text, as well as in writing. This new power to accept complaints other than in writing was one of the provisions of the Local Government and Public Involvement in Health Act, which also came into force in April. Our experience of implementing other provisions in the Act, such as complaints about service failure and apparent maladministration, is being kept under review and will be subject to further discussion. Any feedback from your Council would be welcome.

Last year we published two special reports providing advice and guidance on 'applications for prior approval of telecommunications masts' and 'citizen redress in local partnerships'. Feedback on special reports is always welcome. I would particularly appreciate information on complaints protocols in the governance arrangements of partnerships with which your Council is involved.

Conclusions and general observations

I welcome this opportunity to comment on our experience of complaints about the Council over the past year. I hope that you find the information and assessment provided useful when seeking improvements to your Council's services.
