

The Local Government Ombudsman's Annual Review

Wycombe District Council for the year ended
31 March 2010

Local Government Ombudsmen (LGOs) provide a free, independent and impartial service. We consider complaints about the administrative actions of councils and some other authorities. We cannot question what a council has done simply because someone does not agree with it. If we find something has gone wrong, such as poor service, service failure, delay or bad advice, and that a person has suffered as a result, we aim to get it put right by recommending a suitable remedy. We also use the findings from investigation work to help authorities provide better public services through initiatives such as special reports, training and annual reviews.

Section 1: Complaints about Wycombe District Council 2009/10

Introduction

This annual review provides a summary of the complaints we have dealt with about Wycombe District Council. We have included comments on the Council's performance and complaint-handling arrangements, where possible, so they can assist with your service improvement.

I hope that the review will be a useful addition to other information your authority holds on how people experience or perceive your services.

Two appendices form an integral part of this review: statistical data for 2009/10 and a note to help the interpretation of the statistics.

Enquiries and complaints received

Last year our Advice Team dealt with 36 enquiries and complaints about your Authority. This is a similar number to 2008/09 when 35 complaints and enquiries were received.

Of these enquiries and complaints received, nine related to complaints that were deemed to be premature and so were referred back to your Authority for investigation. We provided advice to six other people who contacted our Advice Team.

The Advice Team forwarded 21 complaints to the investigative team, the same number referred in 2008/09. Three of the complaints forwarded for investigation were ones which had been referred to the Authority as premature but had subsequently come back to the Advice Team because the complainants were not satisfied by the Council's responses. In the previous year 11 complaints were resubmitted.

The largest category of complaints forwarded to the investigative teams was about housing – six being forwarded.

Complaint outcomes

I made decisions on 20 complaints against your Council during 2009/10. There were five cases that were outside my jurisdiction. In nine cases I found no fault and in two cases exercised my discretion not to pursue the complaint, often because the injustice suffered was not sufficient to justify an investigation. I agreed four local settlements.

Reports

When we complete an investigation, we generally issue a report. This year we did not issue any reports against your Council.

Local settlements

A 'local settlement' is a complaint where, during the course of our investigation, an authority takes or agrees to take some action that we consider to be a satisfactory response to the complaint. In 2009/10, 26.9% of all complaints the Ombudsmen decided and which were within our jurisdiction were local settlements. Four (26.7%) of the complaints we decided against your authority which were within our jurisdiction were local settlements. Your Authority paid £350 in settlements.

We dealt with a complaint from a building owner about delay in issuing a completion certificate for works which had been carried out in accordance with approved drawings. Although we found no fault on the part of the Council which had led to direct injustice to the complainant, we did find that there was poor record keeping by your Authority and this had put the complainant to time and trouble. Your Council acknowledged this and agreed to pay the complainant £100 to recognise the time and trouble he had been put to. Your Council has put procedures in place to avoid similar problems in the future.

A complaint was made that you had failed to inform the complainant about changes in his housing benefit entitlement. This led to the complainant falling into rent arrears without his knowledge and the Council threatened legal action. Your Council accepted that there had been fault and agreed to write off the arrears. You also agreed to pay the complainant £75 to recognise the time and trouble he had been put to.

Your Council admitted that it had failed to take appropriate action to deal with litter and fly-tipping on land adjoining the complainant's garden. You apologised, agreed to replace broken fencing and clear the rubbish from the land. A bi-monthly programme was set up for the inspection of the land, and further clearance if necessary. It was agreed the Council would pay the complainant £100 to recognise the time and trouble he had been put to.

The fourth local settlement again included a time and trouble payment. There was a delay of five months in applying a single person discount to a council tax account. The complainant's daughter had gone on to higher education and despite reminders from the complainant, the Council had delayed in applying the appropriate discount. In addition to paying £75 in respect of the complainant's time and trouble, your Council agreed to provide additional training for staff about this and other student related discounts.

Other decisions

Of the remaining 16 decisions made on complaints against your Authority, we found no or insufficient evidence of fault in nine cases and five were outside the jurisdiction of the Ombudsman.

Liaison with the Local Government Ombudsman

The average time for your Authority to reply to our written enquiries last year was 26.9 days which is close to our target period of 28 days.

Training in complaint handling

I would like to take this opportunity to remind the Authority that part of our role is to provide advice and guidance about good administrative practice. We offer training courses for all levels of local authority staff in complaints handling and investigation. All courses are presented by experienced investigators. They give participants the opportunity to practise the skills needed to deal with complaints positively and efficiently. We can also provide customised courses to help authorities to deal with particular issues and occasional open courses for individuals from different authorities.

Conclusions

I welcome this opportunity to give you my reflections about the complaints my office has dealt with over the past year. I hope that you find the information and assessment provided useful when seeking improvements to your authority's services.

Section 2: LGO developments

Introduction

This annual review also provides an opportunity to bring councils up to date on developments in the LGO and to seek feedback.

New schools complaints service launched

In April 2010 we launched the first pilot phase of a complaints service extending our jurisdiction to consider parent and pupil complaints about state schools in four local authority areas. This power was introduced by the Apprenticeships, Skills, Children and Learning Act 2009.

The first phase involves schools in Barking and Dagenham, Cambridgeshire, Medway and Sefton. The Secretary of State no longer considers complaints about schools in these areas. In September the schools in a further 10 local authority areas are set to join the pilot phase.

We are working closely with colleagues in the pilot areas and their schools, including providing training and information sessions, to shape the design and delivery of the new service. It is intended that by September 2011 our jurisdiction will cover all state schools in England.

A new team in each office now deals with all complaints about children's services and education on behalf of the Ombudsman. Arrangements for cooperation with Ofsted on related work areas have been agreed.

For further information see the new schools pages on our website at www.lgo.org.uk/schools/

Adult social care: new powers from October

The Health Act 2009 extended the Ombudsmen's powers to investigate complaints about privately arranged and funded adult social care. These powers come into effect from 1 October 2010 (or when the Care Quality Commission has re-registered all adult care providers undertaking regulated activity). Provision of care that is arranged by an individual and funded from direct payments comes within this new jurisdiction.

Each Ombudsman has set up a team to deal with all adult social care complaints on their behalf. We expect that many complaints from people who have arranged and funded their care will involve the actions of both the local authority and the care provider. We are developing information-sharing agreements with the Care Quality Commission and with councils in their roles as adult safeguarding leads and service commissioners.

Council first

We introduced our Council first procedure in April last year. With some exceptions, we require complainants to go through all stages of a council's own complaints procedure before we will consider the complaint. It aims to build on the improved handling of complaints by councils.

We are going to research the views of people whose complaints have been referred to councils as premature. We are also still keen to hear from councils about how the procedure is working, particularly on the exception categories. Details of the categories of complaint that are normally treated as exceptions are on our website at www.lgo.org.uk/guide-for-advisers/council-response

Demand for our training in complaint handling has remained high, with 118 courses delivered over the year to 53 different authorities. Our core Effective Complaint Handling course is still the most popular – we ran some of these as open courses for groups of staff from different authorities. These are designed to assist those authorities that wish to train small numbers of staff and give them an opportunity to share ideas and experience with other authorities.

The new Effective Complaint Handling in Adult Social Care course, driven by the introduction of the new statutory complaints arrangements in health and adult social care in April 2009, was also popular. It accounted for just over a third of bookings.

Over the next year we intend to carry out a thorough review of local authority training needs to ensure that the programme continues to deliver learning outcomes that improve complaint handling by councils.

Statements of reasons

Last year we consulted councils on our broad proposals for introducing statements of reasons on the individual decisions of an Ombudsman following the investigation of a complaint. We received very supportive and constructive feedback on the proposals, which aim to provide greater transparency and increase understanding of our work. Since then we have been carrying out more detailed work, including our new powers. We intend to introduce the new arrangements in the near future.

Delivering public value

We hope this information gives you an insight into the major changes happening within the LGO, many of which will have a direct impact on your authority. We will keep you up to date through LGO Link as each development progresses, but if there is anything you wish to discuss in the meantime please let me know.

Mindful of the current economic climate, financial stringencies and our public accountability, we are determined to continue to increase the efficiency, cost-effectiveness and public value of our work.

Appendix 1: Notes to assist interpretation of the statistics 2009/10

Table 1. LGO Advice Team: Enquiries and complaints received

This information shows the number of enquiries and complaints received by the LGO, broken down by service area and in total. It also shows how these were dealt with, as follows.

Premature complaints: The LGO does not normally consider a complaint unless a council has first had an opportunity to deal with that complaint itself. So if someone complains to the LGO without having taken the matter up with a council, the LGO will either refer it back to the council as a 'premature complaint' to see if the council can itself resolve the matter, or give advice to the enquirer that their complaint is premature.

Advice given: These are enquiries where the LGO Advice Team has given advice on why the LGO would not be able to consider the complaint, other than the complaint is premature. For example, the complaint may clearly be outside the LGO's jurisdiction.

Forwarded to the investigative team (resubmitted premature and new): These are new cases forwarded to the Investigative Team for further consideration and cases where the complainant has resubmitted their complaint to the LGO after it has been put to the council.

Table 2. Investigative Team: Decisions

This information records the number of decisions made by the LGO Investigative Team, broken down by outcome, within the period given. This number will not be the same as the number of complaints forwarded from the LGO Advice Team because some complaints decided in 2009/10 will already have been in hand at the beginning of the year, and some forwarded to the Investigative Team during 2009/10 will still be in hand at the end of the year. Below we set out a key explaining the outcome categories.

MI reps: where the LGO has concluded an investigation and issued a formal report finding maladministration causing injustice.

LS (local settlements): decisions by letter discontinuing our investigation because action has been agreed by the authority and accepted by the LGO as a satisfactory outcome for the complainant.

M reps: where the LGO has concluded an investigation and issued a formal report finding maladministration but causing no injustice to the complainant.

NM reps: where the LGO has concluded an investigation and issued a formal report finding no maladministration by the council.

No mal: decisions by letter discontinuing an investigation because we have found no, or insufficient, evidence of maladministration.

Omb disc: decisions by letter discontinuing an investigation in which we have exercised the LGO's general discretion not to pursue the complaint. This can be for a variety of reasons, but the most common is that we have found no or insufficient injustice to warrant pursuing the matter further.

Outside jurisdiction: these are cases which were outside the LGO's jurisdiction.

Table 3. Response times

These figures record the average time the council takes to respond to our first enquiries on a complaint. We measure this in calendar days from the date we send our letter/fax/email to the date that we receive a substantive response from the council. The council's figures may differ somewhat, since they are likely to be recorded from the date the council receives our letter until the despatch of its response.–

Table 4. Average local authority response times 2009/10

This table gives comparative figures for average response times by authorities in England, by type of authority, within three time bands.
