Chief Executive
Sheffield City Council

Dear Ms Josephs

Annual Review letter 2021

I write to you with our annual summary of statistics on the decisions made by the Local Government and Social Care Ombudsman about your authority for the year ending 31 March 2021. At the end of a challenging year, we maintain that good public administration is more important than ever and I hope this feedback provides you with both the opportunity to reflect on your Council's performance and plan for the future.

You will be aware that, at the end of March 2020 we took the unprecedented step of temporarily stopping our casework, in the wider public interest, to allow authorities to concentrate efforts on vital frontline services during the first wave of the Covid-19 outbreak. We restarted casework in late June 2020, after a three month pause.

We listened to your feedback and decided it was unnecessary to pause our casework again during further waves of the pandemic. Instead, we have encouraged authorities to talk to us on an individual basis about difficulties responding to any stage of an investigation, including implementing our recommendations. We continue this approach and urge you to maintain clear communication with us.

Complaint statistics

This year, we continue to focus on the outcomes of complaints and what can be learned from them. We want to provide you with the most insightful information we can and have focused statistics on three key areas:

Complaints upheld - We uphold complaints when we find some form of fault in an authority's actions, including where the authority accepted fault before we investigated.

Compliance with recommendations - We recommend ways for authorities to put things right when faults have caused injustice and monitor their compliance with our recommendations. Failure to comply is rare and a compliance rate below 100% is a cause for concern.

Satisfactory remedy provided by the authority - In these cases, the authority upheld the complaint and we agreed with how it offered to put things right. We encourage the early resolution of complaints and credit authorities that accept fault and find appropriate ways to put things right.

Finally, we compare the three key annual statistics for your authority with similar types of authorities to work out an average level of performance. We do this for County Councils, District Councils, Metropolitan Boroughs, Unitary Councils, and London Boroughs.

Your annual data will be uploaded to our interactive map, Your council's performance, along with a copy of this letter on 28 July 2021. This useful tool places all our data and information about councils in one place. You can find the decisions we have made about your Council, public reports we have issued, and the service improvements your Council has agreed to make as a result of our investigations, as well as previous annual review letters.

I would encourage you to share the resource with colleagues and elected members; the information can provide valuable insights into service areas, early warning signs of problems and is a key source of information for governance, audit, risk and scrutiny functions.

As you would expect, data has been impacted by the pause to casework in the first quarter of the year. This should be considered when making comparisons with previous year's data.

During the year, we issued a public report concerning your Council's removal and replacement of street trees, as part of its 'Streets Ahead' programme. We found the Council had not been open about the policies and procedures it followed when deciding on which street trees it would remove. It had also not been transparent about decision making in the case we investigated. We found these faults had likely contributed to the Council's decision to undertake tree removals in a joint operation with the police in the early morning, causing distress to the complainant and others. It also removed some street trees which most likely would have been retained but for flaws in the approach taken.

We recognise the Council has since reconsidered its approach and from late 2018 it has worked with a campaign group to agree a new approach to managing street trees in the city. However, we thought the Council should go further in recognising the distress caused by its actions. I am pleased the Council accepted the findings of our report and welcome that it willingly gave a public and unreserved apology. It also agreed to undertake further work to embed the principles of transparency, openness and accountability in its decision making and improve the quality of decisions taken in relation to street trees.

We issued a second public report about your Council's failure to provide suitable education and Special Educational Needs provision to a young person with additional needs. Our investigation found the Council delayed providing an Education, Health and Care Plan and subsequently finding a school placement. The Council then compounded the injustice by delaying its investigation into the complaint and failing to address the injustice to the complainant.

We asked the Council to apologise to the young person and his mother in a way that he would be able to understand, pay £19,950 to him for missed education and pay his mother £1,050 for the time, trouble and distress she experienced, plus £1,000 for lost school meal entitlement. I am pleased the Council responded positively to our recommendations and welcome its agreement to an additional recommendation requested by the complainant to review the young person's needs and consider alternative education provision.

Supporting complaint and service improvement

I am increasingly concerned about the evidence I see of the erosion of effective complaint functions in local authorities. While no doubt the result of considerable and prolonged budget and demand pressures, the Covid-19 pandemic appears to have amplified the problems and my concerns. With much greater frequency, we find poor local complaint handling practices when investigating substantive service issues and see evidence of reductions in the overall capacity, status and visibility of local redress systems.

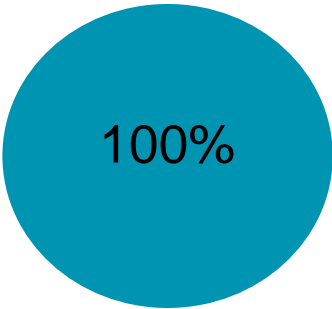

With this context in mind, we are developing a new programme of work that will utilise complaints to drive improvements in both local complaint systems and services. We want to use the rich evidence of our casework to better identify authorities that need support to improve their complaint handling and target specific support to them. We are at the start of this ambitious work and there will be opportunities for local authorities to shape it over the coming months and years.

An already established tool we have for supporting improvements in local complaint handling is our successful training programme. During the year, we successfully adapted our face-to-face courses for online delivery. We provided 79 online workshops during the year, reaching more than 1,100 people. Yours sincerely,

NOTE: To allow authorities to respond to the Covid-19 pandemic, we did not accept new complaints and stopped investigating existing cases between March and June 2020. This reduced the number of complaints we received and decided in the 20-21 year. Please consider this when comparing data from previous years.
